

PDG Advertising positively affects collaboration and task management within the agency using hibox.

“We needed something that allowed us to collaborate effectively in real time, and help us create and manage tasks. We found hibox and haven’t looked back, it’s now a very important part of our business and processes.”

- Peter Doak

Owner and Founder, PDG Advertising.

Overview:

PDG Advertising, looking for a cutting edge online collaboration platform that incorporates chat, video calls and task management for document sharing and real time interaction, found hibox after looking across the spectrum of online collaboration tools online.

After using hibox for only a week, PDG Advertising were able to see the benefits of hibox for real-time collaboration within the agency, and have been able to scale up operations based on the speed and efficiency of the platform.

One big benefit of hibox is the ability to manage multiple clients within one platform in separate streams all under one roof. PDG uses hibox to deliver seamless interactions across our spectrum of customers. A number of our clients are now using hibox to collaborate and manage their workflows and tasks within their own businesses.
